IGNITE WITHIN WHO YOU WERE MEANT TO BE

DAY 36: WHAT ARE YOU PASSIONATE ABOUT?

“You are loved and while you hated Him, He died for you,” the voice whispers in her ears. “You are not worthless. You are a masterpiece.”

Senora finally understands Jesus. Jesus is God’s son and He created her. He doesn’t make worthless things. He creates masterpieces. A love overpowers and engulfs her; life would never be the same.

Looking at your day, what is the first thing you think about when you wake up?

What is the first thing you do after you climb out of bed?

Throughout your day, who or what are you focused on?

Looking at these answers, are any of them the same? These are what you make priority in your life. Now look at these above answer in a different way. Are they what should be priority in your life? If not, only you have the power to change that. So when I ask you what is important to you, will you write down the same answers? Your actions and decision throughout your daily activity is what ends up being the most important to you. Think about it, if something is not important to you, with you make time for it? His you pursue it? I know for me, my answer would be no. I made the choice a long time ago to let go of the things that drag me down and keep me a slave to the lies in my life. It is very freeing to know I am a chosen child of God and He already has the victory over sin and death. I still slip up from time to time, but we all do, we will not be perfect this side of heaven, but we can continually seek God’s leading, teaching, blessing, and love as He matures us, prepares us, and equips us.

"Why show me this. Dad always breaks his promises to me. It feels like he doesn't even care."

"Please forgive the trespass of your servant. For the Lord will certainly make my lord a sure house, because my lord is fighting the battles of the Lord, and evil shall not be found in you so long as you live.

"Why should I forgive him? He broke his promise. His beer was more important than me." Senora says.

"Blessed is the one whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered." The voice says.

"Yes, but all he thinks about is himself. He wouldn't even come home for Trevor's funeral." Senora says.

The fog pushes in on her, making it hard to breath.

She can faintly hear the buttons being pushed on a phone and ring tones. "Hello? Dad, Are you coming home soon? You know Trevor's funeral is tomorrow." Senora can hear her own words hang in the air.

"Huh, what? Nora? Is that you? Yeah, I'll be there. I promise. Nothing will keep me away." Dad says.

"But he never came. On one of the most important family days, a time to be together, as a family. He promised. But once again, he broke that promise. He abandoned us. What was so important? That he didn't come?" Senora says.

Faintly she can see her dad sitting on the floor of a hotel room with a case of beer beside him.

"Here's to you Trevor. At least you no longer have to be burdened with the stresses of life." Senora looks on as she sees Dad drink down another can of beer. "What kind of father am I, I couldn't save you. Jo and Nora are probably better off without me. I certainly know Karen will be happier if I'm not around." He takes another drink. Senora watches on as she sees her dad pick up his phone. "Hello?"

"Frank, are you drunk again? How could you? Today of all days, on Trevor's funeral no less." Senora hears her mom's voice on the phone. She watches on as Dad throws the phone across the room and smashes it against the wall.

"Everyone would be better off."
